

KARAN AZAD

FRONT END DEVELOPER

Personal Profile

Motivated & creative Front End Developer with about 3 years of experience in synergising the skill of programming with the passion for innovation. Delivering high-performing, dynamic, appealing and maintainable webpages & applications. All of that through effective development, proactive feature optimisation, and relentless debugging.

My current knowledge in front end development comes from learning on the job and continuously upskilling myself. An affinity towards technology and designing with a curiosity to understand how things work drives my interest to build high-end functional products that have the user as the center of everything.
